JACK ZELIG'S LAST FIGHT

Shot "Where the Suspenders Cross"—Sequel to Bitter Fight in Chinatown.

A big police automobile with three prisoners and several detectives started slowly from Police Headquarters at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. As the car moved down Centre street a dozen young men with squares tied shoes and bulging coat pockets slipped out of Police Headquarters and trailed it, a squad on each sidewalk. The car moved at a pace that did not leave the detectives on the street behind it and finally stopped at the Criminal Courts Building, around which were scattered fifty detectives.

In this way the police had taken precautions to prevent a rescue of prisoners, gang fighters, and had furnished a street spectacle which attracted hundreds of persons. Only a few hours before Big Jack Zelig, leader of the Kid Twist gang, was shot from behind and "got his," as they told you in Chinatown, much in the manner in which he had shot others, "where the suspenders crossed." He will probably die. If the police records are accurate, he has been mixed up in three killings and he was out on $1,000 bail for carrying a revolver when he engaged in Chinatown warfare yesterday morning.

Any one of many things starts a gang fight, and it was not easy to determine why the Kid Twist crowd and Jack Sirocco's gang met in Chinatown almost at dawn. One version had it that all had been members of the gang of which Kid Twist was the original leader and there had been dissensions over spoils, the Jews forming one gang under the leadership of Big Jack Zelig and the Italians accepting Jack Sirocco as their leader.

Of course this wasn't true, Jack Sirocco said, as he hovered around the Tomba court, less than an hour before Big Jack Zelig was shot. He was friendly with Zelig. Taking Sirocco's word for it, the Chinatown gossip may have had it right, that Wanda Murphy, a comely blonde with brown eyes, had deserted Jack Sirocco for Chick Trigger, who was shot by the Big Jack Zelig forces. The gangs shoot for the possession of their girls and Wanda and Chick were on the scene yesterday morning.

The members of the two gangs had celebrated Sunday by taking part in a stabbing at Coney Island and a stabbing at South Beach, Staten Island. It is one of their Sunday pastimes to have a rumput with a shooting or a stabbing. Evidently their play had not been exhilarating enough, for Big Jack Zelig's gang motored into Chinatown before daylight and crept through Doyers street until they came to Big Jack Zelig's saloon, the saloon that was Louis Fogel's until Looney the Lump, as he was called, jumped his parole. Naturally enough Looney the Lump cannot pose as a saloon owner while the police are expected to be on the job for him. Looney is so fortunate that he could jump $1,000 bail, surrender himself in General Sessions and be paroled by Judge Crane in the custody of his lawyer, Robert Moore.

Soon after the appearance of Jack Zelig and his gang the lights in Pell and Doyers streets went out. The police, the usual time and Sergeant Curran and Detective Sullivan were told by Chinamen who kept close to doorways that they had seen men tampering with the lights. The detectives, familiar with the ways of Chinatown, expected a blowup and it came in a few minutes.

Zelig and his gang had found several members of the Sirocco gang at the Doyers street entrance to Poggi's saloon and there were few preliminaries. In all about twenty-five shots were fired, when the two detectives got to the saloon they found Zelig, who is also known as Jack Albert; Jacob Miller, a lieutenant of Big Jack; and Baker Harris. Harris had been shot in the foot. The detectives heard that a Chinaman had been shot, but they couldn't find him in any of the tenements. Evidently Big Jack and his gangsters had chased the Sirocco followers into Poggi's saloon, for they were caught at the door. In the street were several revolvers. The detectives rushed Zelig, Miller and Harris into the saloon and lined up a dozen men and women, Chick and Wanda among them. All of them were going merrily as if nothing had happened to breaking with the lights. The back room party. The piano wasn't playing, which was the only sign that everything was not as usual. Behind the piano the detectives found six revolvers.

All those who had been herded in the saloon were put in patrol wagons and taken to the Elizabeth street station. With the exception of Harris, the men and women were taken to the back room of the station. The detectives told Harris that it was up to him to identify the man who had shot him. He was taken to the back room and lined up the prisoners. The detectives left the room and went to the front part of the station.

They had a general mixer. Wanda Murphy said something to Big Jack and Big Jack made a reply which Chick Trigger said should not be made to a lady and Chick started for Big Jack. Jacob Miller got in the way and some one landed a punch over the eye. Having shed their revolvers, the gangsters used their fists, an unusual proceeding and one which they consider vulgar, so not much damage had been done before the detectives came back with Harris. When the fighters had been separated, Chick Trigger and Joe Montello were charged with disorderly conduct and Zelig, Miller and Harris were held on a charge of assault. The others were allowed to go.

When the five prisoners were arraigned in the Tomba court, Chief Magistrate McAdoo was sitting for Magistrate Butts, who was a witness in a Supreme Court discussion, the people have over-whelmingly repudiated. This telegram from Mr. Barnes shows that the plan announced in the press is true, and that the leader and real head of Mr. Taft's canvass at Chicago is to be Mr. Barnes, whom Mr. Taft and his managers have chosen to represent and embody the principles for which Mr. Taft stands—a choice which casts an illuminating light on Mr. Taft's relations both to the bosses in politics and to special interests in the business world.

In the next place, it makes it perfectly clear that Mr. Root is pushed for nomination only with the purpose to secure the defeat of the principles for which the progressive Republicans stand, the principles for which the people have declared themselves by overwhelming majorities in those States where there have been popular primaries. Mr. Root's personality becomes unimportant in view of Mr. Barnes' telegram. Mr. Barnes stands for the representation of the very worst form of bossism in politics.

"No progressive delegates can afford to vote for any man proposed by Mr. Barnes and his allies, for any such vote is against popular rule and against the basic principle not merely of the Republican party but of decent American citizenship."

"This is not a faction fight in the ranks of the Republican party. It is a fight between the plain people, the rank and file of the Republican party, making up the immense majority of that party, on the one side and on the other the bosses with back of them the great sinister special interests which are endeavoring to sustain the cause of privilege by perpetuating the combination between crooked politics and crooked business."

"The access of Mr. Barnes at Chicago, the possibility of his nominating Mr. Taft, depends upon his ability to thwart the deliberate judgment of the people, to frustrate the will of the people and to secure such organization of the convention as will make it a will of the bosses paramount over the will of the people. In this contest, I have stood unequivocally for the right of the people to rule themselves."

"There are many honest men who have not been with me in this contest and who do not believe the people are fit to rule themselves. But surely these men must agree with us when we come to the question of naked right and wrong, such as is involved in the effort of Mr. Barnes and his associates on behalf of Mr. Taft to reverse the popular verdict and to nominate at Chicago some man who is not the representative of the people and who have not the slightest right to a seat, and if, furthermore, the convention is content to sit supine while this is done."

"The great majority of the Republican party have unequivocally repudiated Mr. Taft. If the delegates to the Republican convention could be given fair expression Mr. Taft would have but a corporal's guard in the convention. Under these circumstances, it is fitting and appropriate that Mr. Barnes should be chosen to lead the Taft forces at Chicago in the effort to override the expressed wish of the rank and file of the party and to give nomination to the candidate whom the party has explicitly and beyond all question repudiated."

"Mr. Barnes, in the telegram above quoted, states that the doctrines which I have advocated are subversive of our form of government. The doctrines I have advocated are the right of the people to rule, and second, their duty so to rule as to bring about not merely political but also social and industrial reform. These are the principles of the form of government for which Mr. Barnes stands—that is of government by the bosses for the special interests."

"He thoroughly distrusts the people and says so. He disbelieves in democracy. In his preaching and in his practice he is a hypocrite. He is the first, the right of the people to rule, and second, their duty so to rule as to bring about not merely political but also social and industrial reform. These are the principles of the form of government for which Mr. Barnes stands—that is of government by the bosses for the special interests."

"The program cannot possibly succeed if the convention is left to itself. Our opponents have shown that they will stop at nothing in the effort to subvert the will of the people and deliberately suppress the voice of the Southern States, where there is no real Republican party, they have sent delegations secured by the most unblushing use of the Federal money. The money has been deliberately used to permit the people to participate in the nomination of candidates. Wherever it has been possible to choose Taft delegates in defiance of the popular will has been done. Such an instance is afforded by the Ohio delegates, who represent the majority against Mr. Taft's nomination was 30,000. High-minded and honorable men would under such circumstances refuse to accept delegates who would perform represent not the majority, yet at this moment the delegates are endeavoring to impose their verdict and give the delegates at large of Ohio to the man whom the people have repudiated."

"But in spite of all these efforts the convention if left to itself will be heavily against Mr. Taft. His whole campaign winning depends not upon the vote of the national convention, but upon his hopes and plans for securing improper action by the national committee. The national committee consists of men chosen four years ago. In theory their functions are merely to decide honestly and fairly election questions affecting the prime facie rights of delegates to seats and to refer to temporary chairman some man who will

JOHN D. IN SCHOOL FIGHT.

His Men Trying to Oust Trustee Who Beat Woman Candidate.

TARRYTOWN, June 3.—Papers have been served on the State Superintendent of Education in an effort to oust Irving L. Bryant, the Pocantico Hills farmer, who beat Mrs. David M. Milton, John D. Rockefeller's candidate for school trustee, at the election last month. The suit has been looked for, as no one believed that Mr. Rockefeller would allow his control of the school board to be endangered by the admission of Farmer Bryant. When seen tonight Bryant said:

"Yes, I've been served with papers by Rounds, Hatch, Deland, & Debevoise. I don't know what they mean. I don't know what they want. I don't know what they are after. I don't know what they are doing.
